About two weeks ago a young lady Here is a story which our veracious Deacon E. S. Palmes relates to us, and which we are therefore bound to be lieve. About two years ago one of his trusted hens hatched a brood of ckickens, and they were domicited in a coop in the garden. Close by, in an asparagos bed, rested a fine old cat, the pet of the household, with some mew kittens. One of the kittens looked upon the chickens and loved them—loved them so well that it abandoned mother and brothers and sisters, and went to the old hen and sisters, and went to the old hen and sisters, and went to the old hen and sisters, and they were deficient and the poeff.

Biddy cluoked assent, and thepoe-"I looked up and there stood Jim broke through the ice of a deep skat-sked to be admitted into her family sirple and become a member there-ef.

Biddy clucked assent, and theoreforward hen, chickens, and kitten mingled together in mutual sympathy and sweet accord. It astonished the Deacon, yet did his heart good, to see chickens and kitten rubbing against each other and lying close together and his favorite hen brooding them all with her wings, and the entire family acting all day as if kitty, in spite of her four claws and her fur, had been hatched from an egg. The curious affilication has been kept up until this day. The kitty of two years ago is now a grave old cat, but from kittenhood to the present it has lived and roosted with the chickens and hens.

There are several witnesses to
